Mule Deer Hunts

This outfitter is permitted to hunt some of the premier Mule Deer areas that Utah has to offer. Mule deer can be hunted on both Limited Entry and General Season tags although the general season tag is not considered a trophy hunt. Landowner tags and Conservation Mule Deer, Elk and Mountain Lion tags are also available. Conservation tags are available through auctions and are 100% tax deductible.

Elk Hunts

In the last ten years the state of Utah has produced more Boone & Crockett Elk (nearly 100) than any other state in the country. These are highly coveted elk tags and are therefore very difficult to draw. However, for the hunter lucky enough to draw one, rest assured you are in for an exhilarating experience and the chance at the trophy of a lifetime. Utah offers archery, muzzleloader and rifle hunts on the Limited Entry tag. Hunts begin in September and end in November. General season tags are also available, however the great majority of the units offer spike only Elk hunts on a general season tag. Conservation Elk tags are also available through auctions and are 100% tax deductible.

Antelope Hunts

Hunts are conducted in one of the top antelope units in Utah. Antelope tags are obtained by Limited Entry Draw. Odds for drawing tags are quite good.

Mountain Lion Hunts

If you're an adrenaline junkie, come follow a pack of well trained hounds as they track these elusive big cats through some of the West's most scenic country! Mountain Lion are hunted from November to May. Hunters will utilize 4-wheel drive pickups, snowmobiles, 4-wheeler ATV's, and horses to follow the cats depending upon conditions. A Mountain Lion hunt with hounds demands that hunters be in excellent physical condition. Mountain lion tags are obtained by limited entry draw. Conservation mountain lion tags are also available through auctions and are 100% tax deductible.

Bear Hunts

Not to be outdone by their feline counterparts, bear Hunting with hounds is also one of most intense and exciting hunts you will ever experience. This hunt includes well trained bear hounds of various breeds to run the bears. The dogs are followed by vehicle or on foot, depending on the location. Once the bear is treed or bayed the hunter is set up to take their shot. Most Bears are color phase black bear, cinnamon, brown, and some blonde. They generally square 6 to 7 1/2 feet and score 18 to 21 inches. Conservation Bear tags are also available through auctions and are 100% tax deductible.
